RUSSIA MUST INVITE FOREIGN CAPITALISTS

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.—The soviet government must not be afraid to give concessions to foreign capitalists, Premier Lenin declared at a great meeting of the Moscow soviet in the Grand Opera House last night. Five thousand persons, the largest crowd that has heard the premier since his illness, crowded the auditorium.

"Russia," said Lenin, "is so big and has such wonderful economic possibilities that there is no reason to refuse any fair proposition from interests outside the country. We will make such favorable arrangements that capitalists will be compelled to come to do business with us, despite their present enmity toward us."

TOPOLOBAMPO CAPTAIN IN STRANGE WATERS

MEXICALI, Lower California, Nov. 21.—C. A. Libreau, owner, and Capt. Gomez, master of the steamer Topolobampo, which capsized Sunday at La Bamba, on the Gulf of California, sixty miles south of Mexicali, with a loss of life estimated at 20, were to be arraigned here today on charges of negligence.

Last reports said 21 bodies had been recovered and that search was being made along the coast, on both sides of the gulf, for others. Burials followed closely the recovery of the bodies.

Soldiers dug a long trench above the beach line, and the only rites were military.

It was said by officials that Capt. Gomez was making his first voyage into the upper reaches of the gulf and had not sufficiently familiarized himself with the problems of navigation in that section.

NEW ACT WILL CAUSE BIG INFUX TO CANADA

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21.—"Tremendous immigration to Canada of the better classes of English, Irish and Scotch will result from the passing of the new Empire Settlement Act, and the decision of the Canadian Government to thoroughly co-operate with the Imperial Settlement Office to effect this great migration," said Major C. Bavin, general secretary of the Migration Department of the British Y.M.C.A. in an interview here.

CABINET RESIGNS ON ARREST OF MINISTER

Member of North China Government
Charged With Receiving Commission for Proposed Loan

HONOLULU, Nov. 21.—The Cabinet of the North China Government has resigned as the result of the arrest of Lo Wen-Kan, Minister of Finance, on the charge of receiving a commission for the proposed flotation of a loan of six million pounds sterling by a group of German and Austrian financiers prior to the war, according to a cable dispatch received today by The Nippo Jiji, local vernacular newspaper, from Tokyo.

Foreign Minister Flees
In addition to the resignation of the Peking Cabinet, the dispatch states, Foreign Minister Wellington Koo, who offered his personal guarantee in an effort to obtain the release of Lo Wen-Kan, has fled from the capital to Tientsin.

Lo Wen-Kan was arrested upon orders of President Li Yuan-Hung, who, it was said, was induced to act against the Finance Minister by Wu Ching-Liang, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Chang Po-Lieh, Vice-Speaker, who produced documents, some of them alleged to have been forged, purporting to remain in office until after the Lo Wen-Kan affair had been cleared up. The arrest of Lo, which took place Sunday, caused a sensation in the capital.

THINKS GERMAN PERIL GREATER THAN BEFORE

Bishop Fallon Declares Germany Controls Russia as a Man Controls Fingers of His Hand

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—In some senses the German peril was greater now than it was before the war, because Germany now had control of Russia, declared Bishop M. F. Fallon of London, Ont., in an interview here today. "Germany controls Russia as I control the fingers of my hand," he said.

Bishop Fallon recalled that in 1891, when he was a student in Germany, he became convinced that a conflict between Germany and the British Empire was inevitable. In 1894, on his return to Canada, he was laughed at, he said, because he imparted his convictions to friends. In 1910 and 1911, in public utterances, he expressed a somewhat similar belief, and his words caused a good deal of resentment.

Mr. J. H. Roberts, Sentenced by Quebec Legislature, Example of Devotion, Says Mr. Lavergne

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—Armand Lavergne, M. C., in an address on the funeral of Blanche Garneau in Quebec two years ago, last night upheld John H. Roberts, who as editor of a local weekly, is the subject of a special bill by the provincial legislature imposing a year's imprisonment on a charge of violation of the dignity of the House as a shining example of public devotion. He denounced the provincial government.

WAS STATE ATTORNEY DURING JAMESON RAID

PHETORIA, South Africa, Nov. 21.

Announcement here today of the death of Dr. Reinhold Gregorowski, Judge of the Supreme Court of South Africa, recalls the famous raid by Dr. Lander Starr Jameson, familiarly called "Dr. Jim," on December 11, 1915, with a force of six hundred men, into the Transvaal from Mafeking, in support of a projected uprising in Johannesburg which had been connived at by Cecil Rhodes, and the arrest, trial and condemnation of Dr. Jameson, who, though Rhodes clamored for his execution, was finally imprisoned in Holloway Jail, England, for a year as a punishment for his part in the raid.

Judge Gregorowski was state attorney at the time, and had much to do with pressing the prosecution against the raiders, four of whom, including Harry Hammond, an American, were sentenced to death, but subsequently received commutation of this death sentence.

Judge Gregorowski was born in Cape Colony in 1851. He was educated in England. He was appointed Judge of the Supreme Court of South Africa in 1911.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21.—The bandit army of Honan Province, 30,000 strong, which has kidnapped a number of foreign missionaries recently, is laying waste a path six miles wide across the province, burning every city, town and farmhouse in its line of march and leaving its trail strewn with dead, according to a letter received here from H. E. Ledgard, an English missionary, who escaped.

MILLION NEEDED FOR FIRE-STRICKEN TOWNS

NORTH BAY, Ont., Nov. 21.—Municipal delegates from all parts of Ontario are on their way home from the fire convention held at Toronto, the necessity of raising great sums of money to assist the stricken districts through the coming year.

Today the drive to raise a relief fund of a million dollars will be started. Money will be asked, not supplies.

Arrangements have been made with the railways to continue the free transportation of supplies until December 15.

"All Well and Happy," He Is Told—Left Constantinople Well Supplied With Funds

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 21.—Officials of the Sultan's palace today received a wireless message from Mohammed VI., who has fled to Malta, inquiring after his wives, all of whom he left behind.

The following reply to his message was sent: "All are well and happy."

"The newspapers today assert that the Sultan took with him $500,000 in currency, a solid gold antique dinner set valued at $250,000 and several hundred thousand dollars worth of jewels, as well as a field marshal's uniform.

SIR HENRY THORNTON ON HIS WAY TO CANADA

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, sails for Canada tomorrow to take over active direction of the system and is expected in Ottawa about a week later.

For the time being Sir Henry plans to make his headquarters here. Offices connected with the railway department are now being prepared for him.

But the question of permanent headquarters for the national lines remains to be determined and also does that of the establishment of the Great divisions. It is expected that they will be considered by the board of directors soon.

It is probable that Sir Henry will open an extended inspection of the system shortly after his arrival.

GUILTY OF EMBROIDING BULGARIA INTO WAR

SOFIA, Nov. 21.—Twenty-two former ministers were apparently voted guilty by about 75 per cent of the voters at the national referendum held Sunday to determine whether they were responsible for embroidering Bulgaria in war without sufficient diplomatic preparation.

The ministers of the Radoslavov cabinet were not included in the judgment. Trial of the latter for involving Bulgaria in the war has been in progress for more than a year.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

The Real Cause of Indigestion

Acids in the stomach irritate and inflame the delicate stomach lining, sour and ferment the food, prevent proper digestion and lead to a multitude of all digestive and indigestion. Pepsin, the natural digestive enzyme, is the only remedy which relieves and does not correct the cause. Stomach acids should be neutralized daily, and the stomach kept sweet and clean after eating by drinking a glass of pure Magnesia water from a Magnesia bottle. This prevents food from fermenting in the stomach, and you make digest naturally and without pain. By following this plan you may eat almost anything without fear of indigestion. (Advt.)

PRESIDENT HARDING ON SHIPPING REFORM

Government Must Be Relieved of the Staggering Losses in Operating War-Built Merchant Fleet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Enactment of the administration Merchant Marine Bill was urged upon Congress today by President Harding as necessary to relieve the government of present "staggering losses" in operation of the war-built merchant fleet and to establish a program of assured shipping to serve the nation in war and give a guaranty of commercial independence in time of peace.

Personally addressing a joint session of the House and Senate, the executive declared an actual monetary saving to the government from the result of the proposed law. He challenged every insinuation of favored interests and the enriching of the special few at the expense of the public treasury. The legislation, he asserted, automatically guarded enrichment or perpetual bestowal.

"If success attend, as we hope it will," he added, "the government outlay is returned, the inspiration of opportunity to earn remains and American transportation by sea is maintained."

For American Reliance
The President said concern about the American merchant marine policy was not limited "to our own domain," adding that the maritime nations of the world "were in complete accord with the opposition here to the pending measure." He declared those nations had a perfect right to such an attitude, but that he wished to stress the American viewpoint, which, he said, should be the viewpoint "from which one sees American carriers at sea, dependence of American commerce and American vessels for American reliance in the event of war."

National Importance
Mr. Harding declared it would be most discouraging if a measure of "such transcending national importance" must have its fate depend on geographical, occupational, professional or partisan objection. A commercial eminence on the seas and ample agencies for the promotion in carrying of American commerce, he asserted, were of no less importance to the people of the Mississippi and the Missouri Valleys, the Great Northwest, and the Rocky Mountain States, than to the seaboard states and industrial communities inland.

"It is a common cause, with its benefits commonly shared," he said.

For Sea Highways
If government aid is a fair term apply to authorizations aggregating $75,000,000 to promote good roads for market highways, the President added, it is equally fit to be applied to the establishment and maintenance of American market highways on the "salted seas."

Present Operation
As to the present government operation of the shipping board fleet, Mr. Harding said there was the unavoidable task of wiping out a fifty million dollar annual loss and losses aggregating "many hundreds of millions," in worn out, sacrificed or scrapped shipping. He called attention to the government ships were being worn out without any provision for replacement, and that a programme of expenditure and sacrifice and the liquidation which his decade would be inevitable unless the proposed legislation were enacted would cost scores of millions.

The cost of the proposed legislation giving direct aid, he said, with carrying maintained at the present average, would not reach $20,000,000 a year, and the maximum direct aid if American shipping were so promoted that it carried one-half the nation's deep sea commerce would not exceed thirty millions annually.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The appointment of the Marquis of Crewe as British Ambassador to France in succession to Baron Hardinge, who is retiring from the diplomatic service, is especially interesting and has been received very favorably. It is the most important diplomatic appointment in the gift of the British Government, with the possible exception of the ambassadorship at Washington.

HOW TO PROGRESS

The future prosperity of this city lies in the promotion of an extending pay roll. We have the natural resources lying ready to hand. The capital is available in the banks. It is owned by our own citizens. In Spanish alone, not to mention Esquimalt, Sooke, Metchem and other nearby districts, there are rich agricultural areas capable of producing valuable crops that will rival any grown within the Province. The aim of both farming and business interests should be made to make the profits of those products all tributary to this section of the Island. This process which means that not only the profits to the growers, but also the profits from the manufactured products should be held here, is one sure way of promoting prosperity. This can be done and unless it is done we are bankrupt in vision. The capital for investment in a manufactory to handle all our fruit products is available if the farmers, who are mainly concerned, will state their case to the business interests. It is simply a question of co-operation. The growth of Victoria depends on an extending pay roll and we should begin to bring this about in the most obvious way, namely, by fostering the agricultural facilities that lie ready to our hands. On the basis of agricultural development, with such resources as we possess, progress is assured. On this basis more and more money would be put in circulation and our business interests would benefit in proportion.

SOME FUNDAMENTALS
The argument advanced by the leaders of industry in Great Britain to show what is the solution of the unemployment problem is equally applicable in other countries. It goes without saying that the establishment of international peace is a prerequisite, but since there is something in the nature of peace in the world today that item of any platform looking towards a restoration of normal conditions can be set aside. What is wanted is a reduction in national expenditure, a lowering in national taxation and such aid as can effectively be given to trade. Trade must be freed from fettering restrictions if there is to be employment for all. While there is taxation that has passed the bearable limit, capital will be chary about embarking in new ventures. We have had a somewhat lengthy experience of this in Canada, where, if right policies had been adopted, we might have been, proportionately speaking, the most prosperous country in the world today and the quickest to recover from the effects of the war.

It used to be often said during the Great War that there was a lack of leadership and statesmanship, and that because of this the struggle dragged on for over four years, whereas it might have been kept within the term which the late Lord Kitchener believed it would compass. There was some real leadership in war times, but it has been lacking woefully since the war. The very first essential of after war conditions was to devise means for encouraging the development of trade which has been injured and, indeed, shattered by the incidence of the war. Instead of adopting the measures of alleviation that were required, governments piled up taxation on the plea that there was no other course because of the excessive war debts, and, therefore, trade was slow in recovering from its losses because capital remained tied up by the processes of hampering legislation. The policy for meeting unemployment in this country has been simply one of the governments providing either work or maintenance. That policy led to the dole system. It is one that is Utopian in its economics and is really just the simplest formula that could be found in circumstances that arose when there was no real constructive leadership available. The people are taxed to provide doles for the unemployed instead of taxation being reduced in order to create confidence, lead to the release of capital and its investment in industries which in their turn will create work. The dole system is a species and deadly prophylaxis and the doctrine that governments must provide work is equally unsound. A government's task should be to restore normal times. Millions upon millions of capital are locked up today simply because there is distrust over the heavy taxes imposed and the expenditures indulged in to experiment with this that and the other species of new legislation which generally resolves itself into another millstone around the neck of the people. Taxation can be reduced in only one way, namely, by a reduction in expenditures and a turning of the part of governments to engage in experimental legislation which is costly, and problematical in its results. We are suffering from a surfeit of legislation which here, as well as elsewhere, has created a host of political appointees who are batten on the public revenues. What is wanted to bring about prosperity, and legitimate development by private enterprise and initiative, is stern retrenchment by governments and the stimulation of trade and production by a decrease in taxation. These are the twin remedies for the economic evils of the time.

LABOR PARTY'S LEADER
Mr. James Ramsay MacDonald, who has been chosen as leader of the British Labor Party in the House of Commons, is possibly the best parliamentarian that could have been selected for the purpose. He is, however, a Socialist and a pacifist. He did not believe that Britain should have fought in the Great War against Germany. His sympathies are enlisted with the cause of Bolshevism. There are many of the Labor members who will be restive under his leadership as they do not share his extreme views. No one will deny his ability, his force in debate or his combative propensities when it is simply a matter of the spoken word. Mr. J. R. Clynes would have been the safer leader, but Mr. MacDonald will be more brilliant. Possibly that is what determined the choice. In the last House of Commons, the Labor members, although numerically the strongest party in opposition, cut but a poor figure in debate. Now they expect to do much better, and under Mr. MacDonald's leadership will undoubtedly be a force to be reckoned with, although that force may lose much of its virility if the safety of Britain is again threatened as it was in the Summer of 1914. The greatest danger to the strength of the Labor Party lies within that party itself because it is made up of elements that will find grave difficulty in coalescing even for parliamentary purposes. It will take all of Mr. MacDonald's cleverness to hold the intellectuals of the party and the extremists in line.

Premier Lenin, of Russia, is inviting foreign capital to invest in the country where he has been conducting war on capital for the past four years. He is reversing his policy to the extent of seeking to build up by extraneous aid on the ruins of all that he has destroyed.

If the Turkish Nationalists finally arrive at a realization that it was Greece they defeated on the battle field and not the Allied Powers of Europe they will have reached a frame of mind which will enable them to confer amicably with Britain, France and Italy.

M. Clemenceau has just one mission in the United States and that is to tell the American people that France needs their friendship. His story of what France has endured should be sufficient to enlist the active sympathy of such a great-hearted people as the Americans.

Sir George Foster, who has just returned to this country from Europe, predicts that the Fascist movement will sweep through Germany as it has done in Italy. That is a wholly likely development for most observers of events believe that the growth of the influence of Moscow in the councils of Berlin will receive a rude shock before long.

It was unnecessary for Mr. E. W. Beatty to emphasize the fact that the C.P.R. does not exert influence in party politics. Such a business organization would not stoop to petty means to gain its ends. It is managed from the standpoint of efficiency and holds the confidence of the public. It does not need to seek the sheltering arms of any political party. The Municipal Committee of the Legislature, before finally sanctioning the new system of imposing a penalty on municipal tax arrears in this city, should examine the subject a little more closely. Penalties in the past have been a contributory cause to properties being allowed to go to tax sales. The new system will be, in the long run, little less onerous than that now in force. All penalties, other than interest on arrears, should be wiped out of existence. It is an all-sufficient penalty for any property owner to face, knowing that non-payment of arrears within a specified time will lead to the loss of the property and the entire investment that it involves.

Gorge Park
Sir,—I cannot understand why there are still some people who wish to turn the Gorge Park into a tourist camp when there is part of the Old Men's Home site and the Fair Grounds owned by the city which would have no damage done to them by being used as a tourist camp, and which are eminently suited for that purpose. We have not very much park space; why destroy what can be made one of our prettiest parks, when there are other places just as suitable for campers, if not more so? The first thing that would have to be done would be a good part of the timber would have to be cut down, which would mean the balance would come down with the first storm. The trees are gradually thinning, the balance will stand; if the number necessary to make it a camping ground are cut down at one time, the balance will go. To put the park in shape as a tourist camp will cost a lot of money for clearing, etc., whereas the Old Men's Home site and Fair Grounds would cost nothing in that way.

Most of the campers from the States come fully supplied with tinware and everything needed for their trip. With the proposed Gorge Park site it is not necessary for them to go through Victoria either coming or going; with the Willow site they would have to pass through Victoria both ways, and there is more chance of their spending some money in the city.

There is a very strong feeling here against the proposed Gorge Park site for the purpose for which it was purchased, viz., a park for the people of Victoria. I sincerely trust no such action as this will be taken without reference to or consulting public opinion, which is very strong on the point.

P. B. PEMBERTON.

Pre-Election Controversy
Sir,—I have read with great interest the lengthy letter of Mayor Marchant in answer to my challenge to him to bring an action against the City Council for instituting criminal proceedings against him and other members of the Council, and digested and boiled down it amounts to the following:
1. That Mayor Marchant took legal advice in regard thereto.
2. That D. S. Tait, of the legal firm of Tait & Marchant, advised him that he could not succeed in an action against me.
3. That I was justified in instituting the prosecution as there was reasonable and probable cause.
4. That there was no malice.
I accept Sir Frederick Pollock's exposition of the law on Toris, corroborated as it is by my friend, Mr. Tait, but I entirely disagree with Mr. Tait's opinion in regard to the right of the City Council to pay costs incurred by the Mayor and said aldermen for their defence, and I state without hesitation that any such payment is not authorized by law and would be illegal.

In regard to the interrogatories asked me by His Worship, while not subject to cross-examination in regard to my private business, I can state without fear of contradiction that I instituted the said proceedings without instructions from any person and that neither Mr. Higgins nor myself have received any fees out of the city treasury for our services, but that we have received the gratitude and hearty thanks of a large number of the over-burdened taxpayers, which has amply repaid us.

Mr. Tait suggests that I was setting a trap for the Mayor. Trap-setting is illegal under the Game Act. Why not proceed against me under that act?

Merrill Settlement
Sir,—In your issue of November 16, under the title of "Merrill Settlement Present New Plan," you give the report of a delegation which visited the Cabinet at Ottawa. This delegation was not from Merrill. About eleven representatives of the Comox-Courtenay Board of Trade and Agricultural Association who have been making a close study of Merrill's proposals and have now interviewed the Government regarding them. They are their recommendations you give in the course of this article which have been unanimously endorsed by the Merrill settlers.

Asiatic Immigration
Sir,—It is a pity that the communication signed by Mr. Benjamin K. Wong, which appeared in your issue for November 17th was retarded, being dated November 10th from Chicago.

In the mail, en route for this city, considerable water flowed under the bridge; the press was informed that on November 15th the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the Japanese are not eligible for naturalization, and cannot, under an alien law, hold property in America. Supposedly this decision will also apply to the Chinese. At a time when the legislature of British Columbia is present in session, dealing with the question of Asiatic Immigration, nothing could have been more timely. Canada owing to the large influx of Japanese and Chinese into British Columbia, within the Washington decision, both countries are laboring under the disability of Asiatic Immigration. Already the Japanese press is being heard from on account of the unfair treatment meted out to her citizens.

The acquisition of Korea by Japan was part and parcel of her spreading policy. China was unable to check the Japanese movement, which led to an armed and allied combination of the nations to rescue the foreign citizens in peril, and led to the temporary occupation of Peking, and consequent humiliation of the Chinese.

Mr. Wong writes in an exalted tone, not free from considerable race bias, he threatens future dire calamities? He talks of those "glorious years" in the United States, compared with the lean and lost periods in Canada, in spite of the fact that he received his early education in Victoria, British Columbia.

It is an ill-timed effort, seeing what has happened in the new land of his birth, to his own little brown brother, under the full dignity of the law. The action of the Victoria School Board, apparently has flicked Mr. Benjamin Wong on the raw. In my opinion, Mr. Wong's letter is part of the Chinese propaganda movement, directed by one stealthy and skilful hand, with all the signs of a perverted imagination.

In spite of Mr. Wong's letter, Victoria will not alter her methods in directing her own school affairs. Canada wishes to live at peace with all men, black, yellow, white, but absolutely and firmly denies the right of any propaganda on this continent or elsewhere, to stir up strife within her borders, by a process of bluff and cheap intimidation.

Mr. Benjamin Wong quotes the number of societies he belongs to, a point entirely irrelevant to the question, further he says, "It would be well for you to forward a marked copy of your publication" etc., to certain addresses, a piece of unadulterated pure gall, an impudence on a par with the rest of his ultimatum.

In the not too distant future, the solution, from a British Columbia standpoint, of the vexed question of Japanese immigration will be settled. The people of this province feel that the time has come to cut off the tail of the China Dragon, right behind its ears.

FIFTH REGIMENT GAINS SUCCESS

Military Units Commanded by Col. F. A. Robertson Making Commandable Showing at Camp

Lieutenant-Colonel F. A. Robertson, D.S.O., O.C. of the Fifth Regiment, announced at last night's weekly parade of the regiment that he had just been advised by wire from Col. C. H. L. Sharnan, of Ottawa, secretary of the Canadian Artillery Association, that the Fifth Regiment had secured signal success at its camp at Macleay and Esquimalt last June, and had won first place in Canada for gun practice, second for general efficiency, and third for efficiency of personnel, among artillery units.

The speaker pointed out that the first prize in gun practice included the Turnbull Challenge Shield and $5 per cent of prize money; second prize in general efficiency included the Lansdowne Challenge Cup and 20 per cent of prize money; and third prize in efficiency of personnel included 20 per cent of prize money. Long service medals were presented by Col. Robertson to the following members of the regiment: Sgt. James Stuckey, Major Kirkpatrick-Crockett, and Gunner W. H. White. Captain H. K. Robinson, who is at present in India, also won a long service medal, and his reward for 30 years' continuous service will be forwarded to him. Sgt. Stuckey now has won two long service medals, having a record of 48 years continuous service with the militia.

The O.C. informed the members that there would be no more weekly parades during the balance of the present year, with the exception of Companies No. 1 and No. 2. The specialists in these two companies will parade every Tuesday night at the Armory, as they have to pass a second test previous to the end of the year before they can qualify for the extra pay which is authorized. The regiment is devoting its energies along the athletic side towards its basketball team, which is taking part in the Community Concert Basketball League during the winter months.

Laxative Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

Try it when a Laxative is needed and see the wonderful results

It is not necessary to take a violent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and consider it the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger. People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause laminitis.

You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will re-

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. It will surely provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test, free of charge where it is sent. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 25 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

Here you over night even if the constipation has been chronic for years. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptianenna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and does not cramp or gripe. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The names of all the ingredients are on the package.

Mrs. Geo. Rees, of Galt, Ont., writes Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin with good results and is greatly pleased with it; and Mrs. K. Jennings, of Toronto, Ont., finds it very satisfactory. Bring a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family use it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headache, flatulency, and to break up fevers and colds.

As Old Time Flatter—Memories of an old real estate boom in Victoria were evoked in the County Court yesterday, when Mr. George Morphy, appearing for Mrs. S. P. Bradshaw, applied to Judge Lampman for cancellation of the plans of two lots of the Mt. Tolmie estate subdivision. Judge Lampman took note of the fact that the estate was subdivided in 1893 by J. H. Brownley and associates; and that it included in its ambitious plan a race track, twenty acres in extent. "These booms seem to come every twenty years, about," said the judge. During the evening Miss Beale Shampney rendered a vocal solo.

PROPOSED CHANGES ARE DISAPPROVED

Women's Canadian Club Unanimously Opposed to Amendments to Minimum Wage Act

The Women's Canadian Club, at its meeting at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, went on record as opposing the recommendations embodied in the amendments in conjunction with the Minimum Wage Act which have been proposed during the present session of the Legislature. Miss Helen Stewart explained the matter to the meeting, showing wherein the proposed amendments would appear to endanger the vital rights of working people of the act, and pointing out, furthermore, the "vicious circle" created by the employer who fails to pay his employees a living wage. If a considerable portion of the community was living below the standard, then the whole community suffered, the whole labor market became debauched, a certain proportion of the workers became objects of charity or resorted to means of livelihood which brought them within the criminal code, in either of which contingency they became a burden on the community. Dr. Helen Ryan seconded Miss Stewart's resolution, and when put to the meeting the motion carried without a dissenting voice.

COL. ROBERTSON ON NATIONAL DEFENCE

In Times of Peace All Nations Must Make Provision Against Attack by Enemy

"All nations in times of peace must make provision for defence against attack by a possible enemy. The national policy or scheme of defence will naturally take into account the direction in which the greatest danger lies. In the case of France, before the war of 1914-1918, the greatest danger was Germany. Consequently we find France concentrated her military preparations against that country," declared Lt. Col. F. A. Robertson, D.S.O., O.C. of the Fifth Regiment, in speaking to members of the unit last night on the subject of "National Defence." The speaker contended that the scheme of defence should embody offensive measures for surprise attacks against the enemy in sufficient numbers to make the surprise a decisive and crushing blow. One weakness in the French defensive scheme against Germany, Col. Robertson stated, was that on account of geographical features there were few or no opportunities for surprise tactics.

In referring to the French scheme of defence, Col. Robertson stated that the general policy was to construct a series of forts and strong points along and near the border as rallying points and bases for the army. Tribute was paid to the fact that the British Expeditionary Force, though of recently a limited one, actually landed in France six days after the declaration of war.

CARNIVAL WEEK IN MONTH OF MAY

VICTORIA WITH OTHER COAST
CITIES TO CONSIDER PLAN

One Million Tourists With $40,000,000
Expected to Visit the Pacific Northwest Playgrounds

One million visitors to the Pacific Northwest next year, involving a revenue of not less than $40,000,000, is the result estimated by Mr. Herbert Cuthbert, executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, if plans now being matured by his organization are successfully concluded, according to statements made in a circular letter recently sent to the presidents and members of all commercial organizations in the Pacific Northwest.

The Northwest Tourist Association has designated 1923 as Festival and Home Month. The festival in the Pacific Northwest, and it has been practically decided that Victoria's share in the celebration will be held during the month of May, and will consist of a monster carnival, taking the greater part of a week. The list of festivals to be held in the territory alluded to numbers thirteen, and extends with very little interruption from the latter part of April to well into the month of September. Cities and places named in the list of festival centres are: Victoria, Bellingham, Wenatchee, Spokane, Hailey and Lake Windermere, Portland, Orca, and adjacent islands, Vancouver, Tacoma, Rainier National Park, Aberdeen and Hoquiam, Yakima, Seattle and Tondolton.

Advertising campaigns reaching into all sections and corners of the American continent are being planned, and no detail will be overlooked in making the season the most successful from a tourist point of view in the history of the Pacific Northwest. Further plans for the big season will be laid before the annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, to be held on Friday, November 24, in the Commercial Club rooms at Tacoma, Washington. Other business will include the presentation of annual reports and the election of officers. The president of every chamber of commerce, commercial club, board of trade, or commercial organization, is a member ex-officio of the association.

Victoria will be represented by a delegation from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

WOULD BAN ORIENTAL FROM LIVING HERE

Captain Ian Mackenzie Urges
Approval of His Measure
Amendment to B.N.A. Act

Quoting various decisions and high legal opinions as authority for his contention that the real crux of the Oriental question could only be found in three specific ways, namely, the amending of the Immigration Act, repeal or amendment of the Canadian-Japanese Treaty of 1912, which sanctioned the Anglo-Japanese Treaty of 1911, and the amending of the B. N. A. Act so as to remove provincial limitations or authority to deal with the situation, Captain Ian Mackenzie, in the Legislature yesterday, spoke in support of his resolution designed to give the Province the right to control land tenure and to prohibit Orientals to own or lease land.

Capt. Mackenzie's resolution follows that approved unanimously by the Legislature on Monday calling for an amendment to the Immigration Act to permit of the absolute exclusion of Orientals. It is one of the most drastic yet brought down on the question this session. It aims to prohibit Orientals securing any proprietary interest in any form whatsoever in agricultural lands, in timber lands, in minerals or in fishing or other industrial enterprises of the Province, and from obtaining employment in any of the above-mentioned industries.

Capt. Mackenzie dealt with the international aspect of the question, holding that whether it was a national, an Imperial or an international matter, it was one upon which depended the future existence and prosperity of the people of British Columbia.

"There is no mistaking the temper of the people," he said. "There is no excuse for hysteria and no cause for alarm, but the land of a nation should belong to that nation and its citizens. We insist on the sacred rights of our people. There is a great solidarity of purpose at last manifest among all classes of the community on this question. We can only work out our destiny and maintain our liberty so long as we are homogeneous, speaking the same language, worshipping the same God. Our intelligent and law-abiding citizens love liberty and are able and willing to defend it."

"We must protect ourselves from agricultural and industrial exploitation, and this peaceful penetration by the Asiatic must be terminated by peaceful means. Economically we cannot combat with them; racially we must exclude them from our midst and prohibit them from owning land."

Newcastle Member
Mr. Samuel Guthrie, Newcastle, declared that the Government had the remedy in its own hands; the Minister of Mines could settle it by raising the educational standard, so far as employment in the mines was concerned, of the Oriental applicants for certificates under the Coal Mines Regulations Act.

Capt. Mackenzie held that such action would be declared unconstitutional. Mr. Guthrie showed considerable heat and claimed with Premier Oliver, who repeatedly called him to order. The Premier held that the member for Newcastle would have ample opportunity to follow in the debate. Mr. Guthrie countered by the declaration that the Premier had the same opportunity, and he suggested that Hon. Mr. Oliver should himself follow the rules of debate. Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, adjourned the debate.

TELEPHONE GIRLS LOCATE FISHERMEN

Seattle Business Men "Somewhere on Vancouver Island" Wanted
by Long Distance

Somewhere on Vancouver Island recently there were two Seattle business men fishing, when their office desired to reach them by long distance telephone on business matters. The problem was put up to the telephone company in Seattle, which passed it along to the Victoria office of the British Columbia Telephone Company. As the result of the work of the latter's employees on the island the two men were located and got in touch with Seattle.

The November issue of Telephone Talk, the British Columbia Telephone Company's organ, quotes The Pacific Telephone Magazine in regard to the incident as follows:

Seeking Fishermen

"A week ago two Seattle friends called in their respective assistants for a few final words of instruction, assured them that there was nothing of importance coming up and they wouldn't have any trouble running things for only ten days, slammed down their desks tops, and departed. Possibly by design, for office forces do sometimes have a weakness for interfering with vacations, they were very, very indefinite as to their destination, vouchsafing nothing further than they were going fishing up on Vancouver Island. But something important did come up, and it happened to be something that concerned both of them. It was vital that they should be reached at once."

"Now, Vancouver Island is quite a sizable tract of land, and office forces of the two quickly discovered that to put their fingers instantly on two men no more definitely located was an undertaking that approached the appalling. It would have been impossible fifty years ago, or even twenty years ago, and probably could not have been done ten years ago. That it could be done today stands to the credit of modern invention and to the modern public service corporation."

Macedonian Cry

"In fact, it was the public service corporation that did it. All the individual of the confident promises did was to utter a Macedonian cry. He took down his receiver and, calling the telephone company, got C. O. Myers, the manager, on the wire. He placed the situation before Mr. Myers, and there his part ended.

"Mr. Myers then called the manager of the company at Victoria, and other concern, and told him the troubles of his Seattle subscriber. Just what happened after that is known only to the telephone folk, but the evidence indicates that Victoria simply plastered Vancouver Island with telephone calls. At any rate, when the two men drove up to a hotel on the northern part of the island they found that a call was waiting for them, and they had Seattle on the wire ten minutes after their arrival."

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21.—Roy F. Wrigley, Vancouver Board of Trade's representative at the Pan-Pacific Commercial Conference at Honolulu, last night presented to members of the board his report on the proceedings of the international gathering.

The popular fortnightly C. P. R. dance takes place on Thursday evening, when Professor Ozard and his five-piece orchestra will again have the musical programme in hand. Dancing commences at 8:30 sharp and continues till 11:30. These dances are strictly by invitation, and admission can only be had by card or by membership ticket.

The dance committee has made arrangements with the card committee to hold a joint function next week on Thursday evening, November 30. A military five hundred will take place in the private dining-rooms as usual, while the dancing will be in the ballroom. Both events start at 8:30. The card players, when their game is ended, will be welcome to finish the evening in the ballroom.

CARD PARTY WILL AID BOY SCOUTS ON MONDAY NEXT
Members of the Margaret Rocks Robertson Chapter, I. O. O. F., have earned a well-established reputation as charming hostesses, and the many delightful affairs to which they have given their co-operation is proof of their ability. On Monday next, through the kindness of Mrs. Charles Gardner, Fairfield Road, the members will hold a bridge and five hundred card party. Already a number of tables have been reserved, and a few may still be obtained by telephoning 1991.

The proceeds from the card party will be devoted to the chapter's "adopted" James Bay Boy Scouts Troops, an organization which the members are particularly interested in assisting, and which will benefit by Monday evening's affair.

The function has been promoted by the Ladies' Auxiliary in co-operation with the Victoria Post of the Legion, and promises to be a very successful one. ANOTHER COMMUNITY DANCE ON WEDNESDAY

Sixteenth Canadian Scottish Provide Enjoyment—Commanding Officer's Parade Thursday Evening

The 16th Canadian Scottish (18th C.F. Battalion) will hold another of its popular community dances at the Armories, on Bay Street, tonight, commencing at 8:30. These community dances were instituted by the battalion at the beginning of the season, and are held on Wednesday of each week. Handmaster Miller has prepared a good programme for the dancers, and although but a nominal entrance fee is charged, and all men in uniform are admitted free, the full band of the battalion will play. During the intermission a march and reel will be played by the pipe band under Pipe Major Craigmyle. For those who do not care to dance, a five hundred tournament is featured by C.Q.M.S. Fyvie, this being held in the men's mess.

Tomorrow evening, when the commanding officer's parade will be held, it is hoped that there will be as good an attendance as possible of members of the battalion. An address will be delivered by the commanding officer on the history of the battalion.

SKATING CLUB HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE AT SECOND SESSION
On Monday night the Victoria Skating Club held its second meeting of the season. A large number of members turned out and enjoyed skating to a very good band. The increase of figure skaters, especially amongst the younger members, is very noticeable this year, and is due to the efforts of the instructor, Mr. Daniels. Several children were noticed on the ice as a result of a new by-law of the club that members' children under sixteen years of age accompanied by a parent are allowed to skate for a small fee.

Amongst those noticed on the ice were: Miss Bates, Miss Cutler, Miss Carey, Miss Campbell, Mrs. Cudmore, Mrs. Homer Dixon, Miss Drummond, Major Eaton, Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. D. Gillespie, Mr. Gordon, Mrs. Goff, Miss Gray, Miss Hardie, Mr. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Holland, Miss Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, Mr. Hadley, Mr. Isard, Miss Johnson, Miss Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. A. WOMAN SEEKING SILENT ROOSTERS APPEALS TO MAYOR

If Mayor William Marchant had been able yesterday to locate a by-law requiring that all noisy roosters should be muzzled, Victoria's population might have been increased by the arrival of Mrs. Edith Kay, of Bay City, Mich.

The Mayor, however, failed to find such an ordinance, and Mrs. Kay will probably remain at Bay City, "in a semicircle of henhouses," until she can find some other place more restful.

It was a long letter which Mrs. Kay addressed to "Some City Authority, Victoria," and which found its way to the Mayor. It seems that Mrs. Kay has been having a trying time.

"I understand that there is a city ordinance in your place requiring people to muzzle their roosters at night within the city limits," she wrote. "Please tell me about it. Is there a special device made to muzzle them?"

"I have been distracted by night noises for over two years, and more especially the last seven months, not getting one night's rest during that time, because of roosters crowing almost constantly from midnight till they go to roost in evening. I am in the midst of a semicircle of henhouses, and cannot get into a room in my house to avoid the sounds, even with doors and windows shut."

Uncertainty of Law
Mrs. Kay's principal worry now is that she started a lawsuit about crowing roosters and it threatens to assume larger proportions than she had counted on.

"I shall have to appear in court (as thing I never have done), and I understand he intends to take it to circuit court if he is convicted in police court," she wrote. "I have suffered more terribly than ever since filing the complaint, through ridicule, as if I had no right to seek protection for the good of my mind as well as body and the welfare of my family."

Crowing roosters have apparently taken all the joy out of Mrs. Kay's life, and even robbed her of civic pride, because she concluded with this: "Bay City people are urged to boost their home town and not to be knockers, but how can I be expected to boost such a place? I would rather publish its faults far and wide."

STUDENTS DEBATE

Victoria College Representatives Take Sides in Formal Argument on German Reparations

Representatives of the first and second year students at Victoria College debated last evening under the auspices of the Literary Club of the institution, the judges at the end of the discussion announcing that the speakers for the second year had made the most points and won the competition.

The subject was: "Resolved that the Germans should pay the war debt at the time proposed by the Reparations Commission." The second year, represented by Mr. R. H. Lawie and Miss K. Jackson, took the affirmative side, the negative being supported by Miss Ella Lewis and Mr. George Vincent. Miss Cann, Principal E. R. Paul and Mr. Cornett were the judges. Mr. Cornett gave a brief talk after the debate, and announced the winners. Miss Cann also spoke for a short time, and Miss Bell, seconded by Mr. Ross, moved the vote of thanks to the judges. After the formal part of the programme refreshments were served.

DEAN R. W. BROOK LECTURES FRIDAY

Speaks in St. Andrew's Church on "With General Allenby on the Tenth Crusade"

PROFESSOR REGINALD W. BROOK, M.A., Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science, University of British Columbia, who speaks on Friday evening next in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, under T.W.C.A. auspices, on the topic, "With General Allenby on the Tenth Crusade."

"With General Allenby on the Tenth Crusade" will be the interesting theme of a lecture which will be given in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Friday evening next, by Professor Reginald W. Brook, M.A., Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science at the University of British Columbia.

Dean Brook's address should prove to be most interesting, as the speaker was with General Allenby when he entered Jerusalem during the days of the Great War. The professor, who is a good speaker, has a first-hand knowledge of his subject, and wherever he has given discourses on this topic, his messages have been listened to by large and appreciative audiences.

Members of the local service organizations have been reminded of Friday night's lecture, and students, as well as the public generally, have been asked to give the meeting their endorsement and patronage. The lecture will be fully illustrated by many lantern slides, showing scenes in Jerusalem and the surrounding country, depicting customs and habits of the dwellers there, as well as conditions in Jerusalem at the time of the British army's triumphal entry. The slides have been made from photos taken by Professor Brook while in the Holy Land. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Victoria Young Women's Christian Association, and the proceeds will be applied to the gymnasium fund of that organization.

EXTOLS WORK OF LITTLE THEATRE

Mr. Roy Mitchell, Noted Drama Student, Speaks to the Women's Canadian Club

Mr. Roy Mitchell, first director of Hart House Theatre, Toronto, who spoke to the Women's Canadian Club at their meeting at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon, is a warm advocate of the "little theatre" movement. This fact emerged in the course of his talk on "The Drama in Relation to Life," as most of the time he insisted on the importance of the little theatre to the people of the smaller towns of the prairies, and even the cities further west which are off the path of the touring companies. These "little theatres" serve the community in a very real way, because they are among the elements which help to make the resident more content with his home town.

The lecturer told many interesting things about the history of the drama, as well as about the history of the stage, showing that they had not by any means moved together. It was no little recognized, for instance, that Shakespeare's genius as a playwright lay not so much in the words that he wrote as in the opportunities he gave his actors for action.

"The play is what the actor does with it; it is the thing that exists between the words, the phrases, the speeches," said Mr. Mitchell, referring to some of the great and memorable scenes from Shakespeare, Ibsen and other playwrights, in which the whole effect depends on the movements and gestures of the player rather than on the spoken line.

"We never let an actor talk and move at the same time; he may talk and he may move, but he does not do both things together unless he wants to produce a sense of hurry. The actor's business is action; he is there to move. The real play is the gait of the actor, the way he walks between the words. The great dramatist is the man who possesses the power of opening the wide spaces between the words of the playwright."

"The test of Shakespeare is not that he has written beautiful words, but that he has written a great text capable of opening up to the actor. Smaller playwrights have not recognized this quality. They have thought that Shakespeare's poetry might be equalled, if not surpassed, by themselves, and they have written tons and tons of plays which are only words. But the great requisite of the theatre is that these writers missed was the requisite of opening up to the actor in terms of the art of movement."

Abuse of Theatre
The mischievous results to the theatre of the entrance of the musician came in for some comment. The opera, the musician with the baton in his hand, proceeded to arrogate all rights to himself. He introduced the high-powered footlights which the theatre had never suffered before his time, the cold arc, "the most appalling thing that ever shone in the face of a human being," added the speaker, who referred also to the use of the electric lights, including the "rags" and green cloth which hangs inside the proscenium. There had followed the painter, and "between them they made a fearful mess of the theatre." The painter was working on flat surfaces, preparing background and surroundings for living actors who had three dimensions. The painter tested the effect of his scenery with one eye shut, but the audience never looked at it in that way. Then it was realized that stage trees would have to be round instead of flat. This brought in the present era of enormous stage properties, one of the principal causes of the impossibility of taking big shows out "on the road" any more.

Hart House
Something about the efforts—and the success of the efforts—made at Hart House Theatre, Toronto, to restore the theatre to the people who originally owned it, viz., the people, was told by Mr. Mitchell. There the stage properties are made in solid forms, the color of which is given by lighting (from above) instead of painting. These were but incidents to show how the whole technique of the stage was changing. Hart House Theatre is run at a revenue of $25,000 a year. Mr. Mitchell did not draw a very strict line between the amateur and the professional actor. The amateur, given three or four years' experience, would "play the professional right off his feet." Every little theatre that was set up meant employment for the people of the community; any theatre with a company of ten actors implied occupation for from seventy to one hundred people, stage hands, understudies, electricians, property men, wardrobe workers, men employed on scene construction, office people, ushers, etc.

VENDOR SOLD BEER IN WHOLESALE WAY

Mr. Bowser Charges That One Vancouver Club Bought $2,000 Worth in Two Months

That twelve cheques signed by the president of a Vancouver club, aggregating nearly $2,000, had been paid into the Robson Street store in Vancouver within two months was the statement which created a stir in the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature yesterday morning between Mr. W. J. Bowser and Mr. J. A. Buckham and was participated in before the argument was through by Mr. Archie Johnson, chairman of the Liquor Control Board.

Mr. James Miller, chief inspector of secret service work of the board, was on the stand. Mr. Bowser was asked to give the dates of such cheques, of which he had photographic copies, and he retorted that Chairman Johnson could get all the evidence he required concerning them from the books of A. H. Gordon, vendor in the Vancouver store.

Mr. Bowser dared Mr. Johnson to produce books before the committee. If they could be got, he said, he would be able to show that the board had been selling beer in wholesale quantities to numerous Vancouver clubs. Mr. Bowser held that these sales were flagrant in the extreme and the liquor operators were blind to them.

Mr. Miller stated that in Vancouver the city police were left to the enforcement of the act.

Mr. Bowser asked if the police could be blamed for allowing such clubs to remain open "when they knew that the Control Board was selling beer in such a fashion."

In their second attempt, the Eastern Province showed a little improvement, compiling an even 200 runs.

New Beauty Came

A story that millions know

Millions of people have gained new beauty through a new teeth cleaning method. You see them everywhere. Their teeth now glisten, and they show them when they smile.

If you don't know that method, make this test.

Combats the film

It is film that makes teeth dingy—that viscous film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film. Under old methods, very few escaped them. Beautiful teeth were less often seen than today.

Old ways failed

No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats film. So much film remained to night and day threaten serious damage.

But dental science has now found two ways to fight that film. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise their use.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants were embodied in it.

Fights acid, too

Pepsodent brings other much-desired effects. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth before they ferment and form acids.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Each use of Pepsodent gives them manifold power. These combined effects mean a new era in dental hygiene. Careful people of some fifty nations now share it, largely by dental advice.

You'll be amazed

The effects of Pepsodent are quick and apparent. They will amaze and delight you. A short test will convince you that this method is essential, both to you and yours.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Then judge by what you see and feel. Cut out the coupon now.

CAN VANCOUVER
TRIM THE METS?

Scribes and Fans Wonder if Maroons Will Capture Their First Victory of the Season in Tonight's Game

PETE MULDOON'S MEN
ARE READY FOR FRAY

Victoria Cougars Will Entertain American Ice Dogs at Local Skating Rink on Friday Night

Can the Vancouver Maroons break through for their first win of the season tonight in their battle with the Seattle Metropolitans on foreign ice? It is the query that is puzzling the hockey fans of the three Coast centres where the ice sport has made such great headway. On every hand the question is being pondered and all eyes are set on the American port tonight, and more particularly on the big skating arena in the big Sound City.

The puckhausers under the direction of Lloyd Cook have yet to gain their opening victory, although they have figured in three league fixtures, two of which have been played on their own ice and before thousands of their supporters. The first match which the Maroons dropped was the 3-3 score which Seattle safely bagged away in the very first game of the year. Then the local Cougars trimmed the Metropolitans last Friday night at the Willows pond to the tune of 4-1 goals to three, and the Victoria sextette crossed over to the Mainland and administered another lashing, humbling the Maroons on Monday night by four goals to three.

Seattle still unbeaten, Seattle, on the other hand, have yet to taste the first defeat. The Mats, under the leadership of Frank Foyton, who looks nice in the centre post for the American crew, started off this season in whirlwind fashion, eliminating the Vancouver and Victoria squads with apparently very little difficulty. They have no intention of easing up on the pace, and they promise to make the Canadiana hustle in the rink fixture tonight. Scribes and fans over the circuit

The Esquimalt School soccer team
advanced another two points in the school league standing today when they defeated the Oaklands School 3-0 in a fast and exciting game of soccer at the former's home ground.
The score stood at 1-0 in favor of eventual winners at half time, but
on resuming the play, the home team scored another couple of goals to their total making the final score
Esquimalt 3, Oaklands 0.

From the kick-off the home team

all of which he was successful in saving. Soon afterwards the home defence was kept busy saving off
the attacks of the Oaklands forwards, who were fighting hard for a tally, but they found the opposing defence too strong and all their attempts to score were fruitless. With about ten minutes to go to half time, Thompson, playing inside right for the Esquimalt School, put his team one up when he beat the opposing goalies with a low shot. This half ended with no further scoring.

Upon resuming play both teams showed an occasional shot at the opposing goal, but both goalies seemed quite capable of saving all that came their way. With about twenty minutes to go, Esquimalt jumped another goal in the lead, this score
coming from Holder, who, upon receiving a pass in front of the goal,
batted the ball into the net, leaving
the goalies helpless to save.

Being on the bottom end of the score did in no way dishearten the visiting team, and they showed by the plucky fight they put up in an endeavor to even up the score,
but they found the defence of the home team too strong, and scoring proved impossible. The Esquimalt boys at last decided to make their victory more certain and this they did when the ball was taken down into the opposing goal area and passed to Bayless, who drove the ball into the net for the third and last tally of the game, and when the whistle sounded the Esquimalt
were victors with a score of 3-0.

NANAIMO COUNCIL
AND UNEMPLOYMENT

Work Scarce and Outside Districts
to Be Warned About Pro-
vailing Conditions

NANAIMO, Nov. 21.—At the council meeting last night the question of unemployment was brought up by the Mayor, who stated that in view of the fact that the mills were not working too steadily at present unemployment
would be a question which would soon have to be considered by the local council. He believed some method should be evolved whereby the authorities of Vancouver and Victoria should be informed that there was a surplus work for unemployed in Nanaimo.

Replying to the question as to whether there were many unemployed in Nanaimo at present, Ald.
Burnip replied there were "all kinds"
around his place seeking employment. He moved, therefore, that the council should be informed that Vancouver and Victoria to the effect that there was no work for unemployed in Nanaimo.

Ald. Burnip did not think any council foolishness to send men to Nanaimo looking for work. The work should be sent to employment agencies, and not to the council of the city. He made a motion to the effect that unemployed of Nanaimo to obtain city relief work must be at least twelve months in the city for at least twelve months. This was seconded by Ald. Burnip and carried.

CUSTOMS SEIZE LIQUOR RUNNER

Frankie, American Gasboat, Taken Off Quarantine Station With Twenty-Nine Cases of Whisky

OWNERS CLAIM CRAFT IMMUNE TO SEIZURE

In Transit Only Through Canadian Waters, Is Claim—Vessel Detained Here by Customs Officials

Seized in Canadian waters with a cargo of 29 cases of whisky, the American gasboat Frankie, of Chicago, Wash., is detained here by the customs authorities of the port. The craft was taken in custody late Monday in the vicinity of the William Head quarantine station, and brought here late that night. She is now lying alongside the customs launch Winamac, Capt. Bittanourt, at the Grand Trunk docks.

Aboard the Frankie were two men, Swanson and Iversen, who were in the immigration shed here. Should their vessel be confiscated they will be deported to the United States.

The seizure of their craft is being fought by Swanson and Iversen, who claim that they were en route from one American port to another, and being in transit only in Canadian waters, were immune from molestation by the customs. They loaded their whisky, they said, from a Canadian gasboat early Monday morning off Stuart Island in the San Juan group, American territory, and then headed for Nesh Bay, on the American side of the straits, a few miles inside Cape Flattery. They entered the straits through the Canadian waters in order to take the shortest route to their destination.

Customs Officer William Whalley, stating that the vessel was in violation of the law, ordered the gasboat to be taken to Beecher Bay in the quarantine tender Evelyn, on watch for lawbreakers, sighted the Frankie, recognized her as a foreign craft, promptly overhauled her and, on discovering the liquor aboard, took her in charge.

If the tale told by the owners of the Frankie is correct, the customs have no charge to lay against the boat. They suspect, however, that instead of loading in American waters, the vessel got her whisky in Canadian waters, which would be liable to severe penalties for infractions of the customs laws. Vessels cannot slip inside the three-mile limit and secure freight, ignoring the customs in this complete fashion.

Canadian boats can clear from Canadian ports in perfectly legal manner and navigate adjacent waters without fear of interference from the customs with liquor cargoes. It is at this point, however, that they venture into American waters. The Americans, who want the goods, are forced to run all the risks by their Canadian confederates. The customs consequently have considerable doubt as to the reliability of the Swanson and Iversen version of the loading. They think it more likely that the Frankie crossed the Canadian line before she got her 29 cases of the stuff that fetches a fine price on the prohibition coast across the way.

NURSE THINKS NOTHING BETTER

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Advised for All Women in Poor Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and it is the only patent medicine I ever recommended. I am a nurse and if I find a woman is in poor health I always tell her to take it. Although you know that doctors and nurses do not use patent medicines I must say that I think there is nothing better than your Vegetable Compound. When I first took it I was so tired when I got up in the morning that I could not get out of bed. I was so weak and so tired to sleep. My mother-in-law told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was just what I wanted so I tried it and only took two bottles when I felt better. Since then I have found that there is nothing that makes me feel so well, for it seems to build my system right up. I don't know any other medicine that has done so much for women."—Mrs. W. H. Parker, 19 Wellesley Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Women testify again and again that they have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound "after other medicines have failed." It has been tried for nearly fifty years and not found wanting. If you are suffering from any of the various ailments which accompany female weakness try it.

Passengers Land Here Yesterday From Ships From Ports of Origin

Three cabin passengers landed here yesterday from the President Jefferson, in from the Orient, the trio consisting of Mrs. M. Kuhn, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Elliott, of Oak Bay; Mr. M. Eiser, a French banker from Tientsin, en route to Paris, and Mr. J. Heffron, of the George A. Fuller Construction Company of Toronto. The vessel had a total passenger list of 53 first class and about 150 Asiatic steerage. Of the latter about 50 landed here.

The Yokohama Maru had a number of passengers for Victoria, most of them being for Mainland destinations. The cabin list was as follows: A. L. Melville, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Smith, Mrs. E. G. Burg and child, Master W. T. Sugg, and Miss C. Woodruff.

Among the passengers for Seattle was Dr. W. O. Ballantine, an American doctor returning from India. While en route from Singapore to Hong Kong his ship was wrecked and the doctor, together with his wife, was a passenger for a few days on an island off the China coast. No lives were lost in the wreck.

HIS SIX SONS CARRY PRESIDENTS' NAMES

Japanese Merchant With New Method of Assuring Peaceful Relations Was Hero Yesterday

With his half dozen sons all named in honor of presidents of the United States, it cannot be said of K. Nagasaka, who was among the passengers on the Yokohama Maru, in port yesterday from the Orient, that he is doing nothing to promote better relations between Japan and the United States.

It was with pride that Mr. Nagasaka told of the nomenclature of his family. His eldest son is named after George Washington, his second after Abraham Lincoln, his third after Thomas Jefferson, his fourth after James Monroe, his fifth after James Madison, and his sixth after John Adams.

Repeating to the observation that perhaps in Japan his system would be more popular than it is regarded in the United States, the diplomatic Mr. Nagasaka replied that, far from this being the case, in Japan were many families named after this manner. "We Japanese who know America," he said, "have nothing but the kindest of feelings towards this great nation, and it is in this small way, among others, that I give expression to my attitude."

Mr. Nagasaka, with his small sons, is returning to New York, where he is engaged in business.

BLUE FUNNEL MASTER KNEW COAST IN YOUTH

Capt. Flynn, Bringing Abilities Here, Grew Up in Seattle—Protestant

When the new Blue Funnel Line steamship Achilles, recently completed, and now in the Orient on her first voyage, comes to Victoria for the first time next month, she will very likely be commanded by Capt. George M. Flynn.

Capt. George Flynn is the son of the late Capt. John Flynn, who died at Seattle several years ago, and who was one of the earliest shipmasters in the service of the Blue Funnel Line, having commanded the ship Achilles for many years. The younger Flynn spent many years of his boyhood in Seattle, and since becoming a master mariner, has commanded a number of Blue Funnel ships. He was in command of the big liner Tyndareus, when that vessel was torpedoed off the Portuguese coast during the late war, and Capt. Flynn was decorated by the British Government for his achievement in successfully navigating the crippled vessel to a port of safety.

The next Blue Funnel liner to call here from the Orient will be the Halerie, which sailed from Yokohama, November 18, and is due at Victoria December 1. The steamship Eurypylus, in the north European service of the company, is expected here soon, while the Asynar is scheduled to sail from Liverpool December 6.

VANCOUVER WELCOMES CRUISER CAPETOWN

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21.—With flags flying from the principal buildings of the city in token of welcome extended by the citizens of Vancouver, His Majesty's light cruiser Capetown, of the North Atlantic division, steamed into Burrard Inlet this afternoon and anchored off Deadman's Island. The warship is here for a short stay. The commanding officer, Commander Jones, and a number of his officers aboard, pulled out from the ship and were met at the wharf by Mayor C. E. Tisdall, members of the City Council, officers of the Naval Officers' Association and other representative citizens.

WOMAN WAS LEADER OF CHINESE PIRATES

HONG KONG, Nov. 21.—Stories of a female pirate leader and her desperate band of Chinese buccanniers who yesterday seized the British steamer Rungin, overcame the crew after a sanguinary battle and then escaped with all the cash and valuables on board, were related by the passengers who were landed from the vessel.

Throughout the piratical adventure the woman leader is said to have calmly directed the movements of her band and was wounded, together with three of the buccanniers, when the passengers and crew engaged them in battle. Most of the passengers when they landed here were suffering from hunger and exhaustion.

News Against Fire

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21.—With fire raging in coal bunkers, the British freighter Assin, of the Leyland Line, docked here late yesterday, after having been on fire for several days following the discovery of fire. The vessel left here Thursday night bound for Liverpool.

NO DANGER, SAY DOLLAR SHIPS

Last Night's Messages Clean Up Situation—Bessie Repairing and Proceeding in From Sea

CUTTER ALGONQUIN STEAMS OUT TO SEA

Stuart Dollar Heading Steadily in at Five Knots—Tug Is Astern, Steering Her—No Aid Needed

That the Dollar Line steamer Bessie Dollar is in no immediate danger was made clear in messages received last night by the Canadian Government wireless station at Esateva, transmitted thence to Gonzales Hill here. The reports swept away considerable of the mystery that conflicting reports in the past had created, as well as both the Bessie and the Stuart Dollar.

At eight o'clock last night Esateva received this message from the Bessie Dollar:

"In no immediate danger. Proceeding favorably with repairs to pipe."

It is apparent that, unless exceptionally heavy weather assails the vessel before the damage occasioned by the accident on board is made good, she will be well able to fend for herself.

Cutter From Astoria In any case, whatever assistance is needed by the Bessie will soon be close at hand. At 1 p.m. yesterday, Esateva reported, the United States coastguard cutter Algonquin left Astoria, Oregon, wireless, "Proceeding in assistance of Bessie Dollar."

The Bessie was last night at eight o'clock approximately 600 miles west of Cape Flattery, the Stuart Dollar, meanwhile, is far removed from the Bessie.

The tug Sea Monarch, it is evident from last night's messages, is still standing by the Stuart, which is slowly getting back to port in a rude condition. Whether the tug ever abandoned the Stuart to go to the aid of the Bessie, as was first reported, is doubtful and unlikely.

Esateva was in communication with the Sea Monarch last night, the tug reporting that she was approximately 440 miles west of Flattery at 8 p.m.

Acts as Rudder "Astern of Stuart Dollar, acting as rudder. Making five knots. Everything satisfactory. No aid required."

This wireless Capt. Beaton, of the Sea Monarch, disposing of rumors that the towboat was also in difficulties. Better progress probably is possible with the tug astern of the crippled ship and acting as her rudder than with the Dollar in tow. At five knots an hour it will be Sunday or Sunday before they will arrive off Victoria.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Take but a moment to prepare, and save you about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose. Pine coughs are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 3/4 ounces of Pine's pine, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. It is sure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly. You can feel this takes hold of a cough in a way that makes it hard to get rid of. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be a wet, rattling, loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pine and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, and any ordinary cough. Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous for its effect over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "Pine's Pine and Syrup," and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine Co., Toronto, Ont.

COOLIES STAGED ATTACK ON SHIP

President Jefferson Was Besieged at Hong Kong

Quartermasters Win Pierce Strategic With American Soldiers Who Sought to Storm Vessel

Brutal knuckles, mementoes of a battle royal at Hong Kong, were put on the ship's quartermasters and a crew of Chinese coolies and hawkers, were much in evidence among the crew of the Admiral Oriental steamship when it was in port yesterday from the Orient.

As is customary with the docking of vessels at Hong Kong, there was a great crowd of pedlars and money changers on hand when the Jefferson changed on at the Kowloon wharf from Manila on her homeward voyage. As soon as the gangway had been put out, the mob staged a general attack on the plank in their eagerness to get aboard and get the cream of the passenger business. The two quartermasters on watch sought to save off the assault, popping blow after blow on the aggressive Oriental features, but were driven back and back until they were at the top of the gangway, and the plank bore a long line of fighting coolies.

When Help Came

The help came from the ship, and with a mighty effort the combined quartermasters forced the mob to leave the plank, and with great satisfaction superintended the traffic to and from the ship, complete masters of the situation.

The bruiser but victorious quartermasters then resumed their stations at the plank, and with great satisfaction superintended the traffic to and from the ship, complete masters of the situation.

STEAMERS LAND MORE THAN 3,000,000 HERE YESTERDAY

Bundles to Number of 43,860 Discharged From the President Jefferson and Yokohama Maru

A few Japanese oranges—to be exact, 43,860 bundles, or to be more exact, at 80 to the box, 3,268,800 actual oranges—were landed in Victoria yesterday. The Christmas movement of this choice Oriental fruit arrived with a rush with the docking of two steamers from Japan, each with many thousands of boxes aboard.

The N.Y.K. Yokohama Maru, the first of the twin to make port, discharged 6,000 bundles at the Rihet wharves. Many of these were for local wholesale houses, but the bulk were for transshipment East. The Japanese steamer, which tied up at eleven o'clock, was here until three in the afternoon working over. She had little general cargo in addition to the fruit.

With the berthing of the Admiral Oriental liner President Jefferson at eleven o'clock in the morning, the longshoremen had a real job before them. The vessel had 37,860 bundles of oranges to land here. Local dealers were well fortified for the Victoria trade with 3,460 bundles, and the rest were for shipment to Vancouver and prairie ports.

All Hands Busy

Six gangs of stevedores, numbering 120 men, were busy at Ogden Point all day, unloading the freight from the American vessel. Seven carloads of oranges, routed C.P.R. were trundled right across the dock to the breakwater wharf, where the C.P.R. transfer barge No. 7, with the tug Nanosee alongside, was in position. The bundles were trucked aboard the ferry and loaded into the cars as fast as they were slung by the Jefferson, and last night towboat and orange wafa on their way to Vancouver. This arrangement reduced the delay in transshipment to a minimum. It was made possible by the amount of the cargo discharged here by the liner. As she had more than 900 measurements tons of this fruit, it was worth the while of the Canadian Pacific to bring the transfer barges alongside the dock rather than resort to the usual procedure in the case of smaller shipments, of sending the Mainland night boat around to pick it up in her spare hours during the day.

In addition to the Japanese oranges, the Jefferson had considerable Chinese merchandise for local consignees. This was chiefly Christmas goods for the local Oriental colony.

The President Jefferson got away for Seattle at 7:30 p.m. The C.P.R. transfer barge, with seven carloads of the oranges aboard, left for Vancouver at 10:30 p.m. In addition to these, there were 19,000 bundles of the fruit landed for shipment via C.P.R. to Vancouver wholesalers. The carloads were for Eastern points. The Jefferson was for Seattle.

Six carloads of the Jefferson cargo, and considerable of the Yokohama's, were for shipment East over the Canadian National line. The yards were teamed away to the C.N.R. yards for shipment via Patricia Bay.

ARABIA MARU SAILS

The O.S.K. steamer Arabia Maru left for the Orient last night. On arrival at Yokohama, Nov. 21, she picked up 109 Japanese stevedores, passengers, some tons of salt salmon and old fish nets, and then cleared for sea at 6:30 p.m.

New Dutch Motorship, Sister to Dinteldyk, Launched for This Run

Findley, Barclay & Brodie, Victoria agents for the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co., which is associated with the Holland-America Line on this coast, have received word of the launching of the new motorship Dinteldyk at Harland & Wolff's Greenock yards. The ship is the same type as the Dinteldyk, 3,000 tons, and will be fitted with a most internal combustion freighter and passenger ship. She will be out on this coast next summer. The launching was October 24.

Algerine Takes Salvaged Ship to Pedro; Then to Come North; Due Dec. 10

The SS. Algerine is expected back in Victoria from Mexican waters by December 10 at the latest, according to indications at present. After pulling the stranded SS. Guerrero into deep water, the salvage steamer made a trip south to Manzanillo to replenish her fuel, and has now rejoined the salvaged vessel at Mazatlan. After conveying the latter to San Pedro, where she will likely be repaired, the Victoria craft will come north without any further delay.

Moordyk, Delayed at San Francisco, Will Arrive This Morning

The Moordyk, of the Holland-America Line, due yesterday, failed to arrive, but will be in this morning at 9 o'clock, according to wireless word from the ship yesterday. She was later than expected in clearing San Francisco, not getting away before Sunday.

CLOSE VOTE FOR LABOR'S LEADER

J. W. Clynes having been expected. Mr. Clynes is considered very able, and is highly thought of, but it is possible that his close connection with the Coalition Government as Food Controller during the war may have had something to do with the preference accorded the present leader.

By Five Votes

The voting was exceedingly close, 61 for Macdonald and 56 for Clynes, and it is understood to have been the Scottish Labor members who turned the scales in favor of the former. These Scottish members are for forcing the pace in parliament on unemployment and other questions of interest to the party, on which it is supposed Mr. Clynes should have counselled Labor more closely. There is little doubt that the Labor Party is a wholehearted Mr. Macdonald, owing to his extensive knowledge of foreign affairs, but there was a strong element in favor of re-electing Mr. Clynes, at least for the first session of the new parliament, out of gratitude for his services to the party during recent years.

Stormy Career

Mr. Macdonald, who thus, for the second time, has been elected chairman of his party, is a strong Socialist, as well as an anti-militarist. He has a stormy career. He was rejected by a large majority at Leicester in the "khaki" election of 1913, owing to his anti-war attitude and was again badly defeated when he contested the Wolverhampton constituency in the by-election of 1921.

He was elected for Aberavon last week by a large majority, despite the fact that Mr. Lloyd George made a special journey to that constituency to speak against him and his war record, which the former Premier declared unfit him for parliament.

Prominent Co-operation

Mr. Clynes, in an interview, while deprecating the action of the Scottish members, professed his hearty desire for party quarrels and declared his intention to co-operate with Mr. Macdonald for the advantage of the whole party. Mr. Clynes, former chairman of the Parliamentary Labor Party, whose election to the leadership had been generally anticipated, was elected deputy leader. The Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, long Labor parliamentary leader in the House of Commons, who failed of election to the House in the recent voting, was made chief party whip, with Mr. Ben Broom, the acting chief whip in the House of Commons.

he came to America on no official mission, but as a private citizen to present the truth as he saw it. He declared that reparations was an American idea, because President Wilson had come forward with his famous fourteen points and the armistice represented essentially the American point of view.

Expressing the hope that America could find some way of renewing conversations with France and England, looking toward enforcement of the peace treaty, M. Clemenceau said: "I don't want to speak of the League of Nations. But I might, I might."

The League of Nations

The "Tiger" said he did not believe in the League of Nations as a means of preventing war, but that he believed in it as a means of arranging matters, deferring war and giving people time to think.

"You have seen one of the greatest dramas in the world," he said. "We are now in the greatest crisis. No one knows when it will end and what effect European misery may have on American prosperity." He asked what America had made of the war, and what she had gained as the war for and the armistice represented essentially the American point of view. No sacrifice was demanded of her except the will to assert herself as the people she had vanquished were unable to do anything just at the

Why—that's CARUSO!

Although he has passed forever from our midst his glorious, golden voice is immortalized by "His Master's Voice" - Victor Records.

DO we realize the service "His Master's Voice" is rendering to civilization by preserving the interpretations of the world's greatest artists?

When Emile Berliner invented the Gramophone in 1887, music was truly immortalized.

The steady, consistent development of "His Master's Voice"—Victor recordings to their present state of perfection is one of the most romantic stories of our time. Starting as pioneers with the first disc record and recording apparatus, they have brought forth practically every outstanding improvement; every innovation, that has widened the field of the gramophone and carried the music of the world's greatest artists and orchestras to the farthest corners of the earth.

When Eldridge R. Johnson, head of the Victor Talking Machine Company, replaced the etching method of recording with the wax engraving process, introduced the first spring motor gramophone; and finally in 1906 placed the first Victrola or hornless gramophone on the market, he created the instrument by which all others are judged today.

Victor was the first to record the voices of the great artists; first to record the operatic arias; the great violinists and pianists. And to-day the greatest of these artists record exclusively for Victor.

From the earliest pioneer days of the industry "His Master's Voice" has assumed the leadership in practically every advancement and improvement in recording and reproducing and to-day "His Master's Voice"—Victor Records and Victrolas are acknowledged supreme in every part of the world.

Every secret learned in 35 years' experience has developed a method of recording so perfect that it catches every delicate sound wave of violin and cello; of piano and harp tones and the beautiful overtones of tenor and soprano, as well as the

resonant richness of contralto and bass.

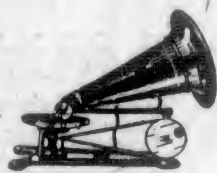

The same experience has discovered the best record composition to do full justice to these master recordings.

And you will also find that dealers in "His Master's Voice"—Victor products enjoy the best standing in your community, completing the chain of quality from the maker to the buyer. For people who appreciate and buy "His Master's Voice"—Victor products are truly lovers of all that is best in music.

Remember these things when you buy your Victrola.

ROYAL Contrasting the wholehearted love of a charming girl with the double dealing and cold-blooded betrayal of a selfish woman of the underworld, Thomas H. Ince's special production, "Skin Deep," is the attraction at the Royal again today. Although it is a melodrama packed full of thrills and tense situations the artistry of its presentation saves "Skin Deep" from anything smacking of cheap sensationalism. The story hangs on the unusual peg of a complete change in the identity of the principal character, a ringleader in a gang of clever crooks in a large city. The transformation is effected by plastic surgery following the injury of the crook in an airplane accident while he is trying to escape from prison. His wife and another gangster had "railroaded" him into prison. The big kick in the picture comes when he returns to his old haunts with his new identity and sits with his wife and her new husband and hears them planning to double-cross him without their suspecting who he is. How this revelation leads him to "clean up" the old gang and take the straight road furnishes the rest of the theme for this fascinating story.

CAPITOL Even though the calumny glare of the movies lures people from all walks of life, it is not often that a member of the nobility is reflected from the silver sheets. Count Jean de Limur, therefore, is a notable exception. Bearing a title and possessing great wealth, besides being a member of one of the oldest families of France, Jean de Limur preferred working as an extra for Douglas Fairbanks in "The Three Musketeers," now the feature at the Capitol, to be classified as one of the "idle rich." It was not the five dollars a day which the count made that appealed to him; it was the fun he gets out of earning it. He was happier than a small boy with a new popgun when, because of his ability as a swordsman, he was chosen to fence with Douglas Fairbanks in one of the dueling scenes of "The Three Musketeers." "I enjoyed myself immensely at the Fairbanks studio," said Count Limur, "and I learned a lot, too. When I go back to Paris in about three months, perhaps, I can put to good use the knowledge of pictures. I have gathered in this country. The count is on a two-year leave of absence from the French navy, in which he is captain. His brother, Viscount Andre de Limur, married Ethel Mary Crocker, famous American heiress, and they now live in Paris. Before the war, Count Limur spent considerable time at the Burlington home of the Crockers, said to be one of the most beautiful and famous estates in this country.

DOMINION For "The Young Rajah," Rodolph Valentino's latest picture, which plays at the Dominion Theatre all this week, Paramount has assembled a cast which reaches all-star proportions. Wanda Hawley, just completing her featured role in George Melford's production, "Burned Sands," will play Molly Cabot, the American girl with whom Amos Judd (the adopted name of the young Hindu) falls in love while attending Harvard. Bertram Grassby, character artist who played the Hindu heavy in "For the Defence," a Paramount picture starring Ethel Clayton, again portrays a colorful Hindu villain—a maharajah, who usurps the throne. He is assisted in his villainous designs by J. Farrell MacDonald, Joshua and Sarah Judd, the kindly old New Englanders, who adopt the boy, are played by two noted character artists, Charles Ogle and Fanny Midgely. Other important Hindu characters are enacted by George Periolat, George Field and Edwin Stevens. Amos Judd as a youth is portrayed by Pat Moore.

a limousine from the Plaza, while a cameraman on an automobile directly in front ground the crank. Then he was held up by traffic, as part of the picture, and made a slight scene to show the annoyance of the character he was portraying. In a minute a crowd of nearly a thousand people gathered around, and traffic was really blocked despite the efforts of the electric "Stop-and-Go" signals. Mr. and Mrs. Meighan spent two days in Cleveland, where Mr. Meighan made a personal appearance at the Loew State Theatre. Marcus Loew paid the Paramount star a large sum of money to make this personal appearance, and Mr. Meighan promptly turned it over to a worthy Cleveland charity. After leaving Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Meighan went to George Ade's country place at Brook Farm, Indiana, where they were guests of the famous author for two days. Mr. Meighan and Mr. Ade have been close friends for years, the Paramount star having played leading roles in two of Ade's plays, "The College Widow," and "Father and the Boys."

PLAYHOUSE Playhouse patrons THEATRE have been taken to many lands since Mr. Hincks and his talented company entered into possession of the cozy little Yates Street theatre some three months ago. This week the audience is transported to the Balkans, that region of petty states, ruled by princelings and grand dukes with all the pomp and glitter of their more powerful neighbors. The scene is laid in the tiny imaginary principality of Baleria whither Prince Boris, the ruler of a neighboring state, has gone on a holiday with a friend. Whilst traveling incognito he meets a maiden to whose charms he immediately falls victim, only to realize with bitterness that he has been trothbitten by his government for political reasons to the Princess Stephanie, whom he has never seen and consequently does not love. The story cannot be told here, but it has the usual happy ending, without which no light opera would be complete. Ample comedy is provided by a pair of Jewish peddlers, Aaron Brightshter and his daughter, Rachael, on whom fortune (for the moment), smiles, and who are brought into very sudden social prominence. The whole production is of very high merit, not only as regards music but also as to costuming and scenery, and it will doubtless be hailed by many as "the best yet."

CATHERINE EMMETT
In "Orphans of the Storm," the great photoplay by Director D. W. Griffith, which comes to Capitol Theatre next week.

OVER FIVE HUNDRED INDIVIDUAL ROLES IN ORPHANS OF STORM
There are nearly as many actors whose work shows in "Orphans of the Storm," D. W. Griffith's newest photoplay, a United Artists Corporation release, which has been booked by the management of the Capitol Theatre, as in the combined casts of all the "speaking" plays at the height of the theatrical season on Broadway, New York. The registry of their names, addresses and photographs would suffice to launch one of the biggest of dramatic agencies. Indeed, an "Orphans of the Storm" alumni association, if organized, would have a large membership.
A rapid survey of the still photographs shows 568 persons have unit roles in this picture individually costumed and calling for individual business. They are real actors, essential to the drama of the scenes in which they appear, worthy to be set down in any stage programme as denizens of "bits." The Capitol Theatre programme would take on the size of a directory if it listed them as old-time theatre managers listed all their players.
Among the phalanx are former stars of New York and London stages, players of principal roles in earlier Griffith epics, sterling "character men" and "character women," expert dancers, champion wrestlers, accomplished fencers, child wonders, artists' models, even pierrots and pierrettes of the snuggest and tanberk—a gathering of all the talents that make up the many-sided amusement world.

THE BALKAN PRINCE
The potted comic opera of "The Balkan Princess," which swept two continents with its mirthful and beautiful music and story, is in its second week at the Playhouse, in certain to draw packed houses, beginning tonight, and every night, with matinee Saturday afternoon.

CHARLES JONES AT COLUMBIA TOMORROW IN "TROOPER O'NEIL"
A Fox production of more than ordinary interest is coming to the Columbia Theatre tomorrow. It is called "Trooper O'Neil," a story of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, and the star is Charles Jones. A reviewer in another city says of this film: "It is a breath of the Canadian woodlands. When the picture opens you are greeted by a scene where snow-capped peaks raise their crests, plumed with giant pines. That is the background for a story which is swift in action and engrossing in theme. The beauty of the settings is cleverly blended with the ever-increasing charm of this spirited romance. Situation follows situation in rapidly increasing succession to the final stirring climax. And rarely has a climax been more powerful."

CANADA NOT LACKING IN MUSICAL SCHOOLS

Canadian Academy is in Forefront With High Class Faculty—Conduct Local Tests

It is still a question for debate whether the European music schools are able, in some respects, to offer greater advantages to students than Canadian institutions. Opinions will, no doubt, differ on this point; but the fact remains that the vast majority of Canadian music students will continue to receive their education in this country and only the few will travel abroad.

All are justly proud of Canadian institutions, and among these the Canadian Academy (with which is amalgamated the Toronto College of Music) is in the forefront at the present time by reason of the unequalled strength of its faculty and the completeness of its equipment. With one of Canada's most eminent musicians in the person of Mr. Frank R. Weisman as musical director, and associated with him a board consisting of Albert Ham, Mus. Doc., W. O. Forsyth, Peter C. Kennedy and Ernest MacMillan, Mus. Doc., the academy staff also includes the world-renowned pianist, Arthur Friedheim; the virtuoso violinist, Luigi von Kunita, and the signally successful master of singing, Signor Otto Morando.

Through its far-reaching local examination scheme, the usefulness of the academy to music teachers and students throughout the country is very greatly enhanced. Examinations are annually held in all parts of Canada, providing a stimulating opportunity for students to submit their own efforts and the merits of their instruction to the probably severe but impartial judgment pronounced by artists of consummate experience, widespread reputation and unchallenged authority. Besides being a powerful incentive to his study, the examination will also help the student to exactly determine the place he has reached, thus far, on the long but fascinating path to the Parnassus.

Weakness Marks Close of Market

Which Opened Firm-Foreign

Exchanges Take Drop

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Dullness

again characterized the trading in today's stock market, prices moving in a confusing manner, and operations
being almost entirely of a professional character. Opening prices were generally firm, but acute weakness of General Asphalt common and preferred, and United States Rubber, caused the list to turn heavy before the end of the first hour, and thereafter prices bobbed up and down, generally within narrow limits, short selling against some of the standard issues giving the market the appearance of weakness at the close.

Sugar Shares

Hawaneed sugar was noted in the sugar shares, apparently in speculative anticipation of favorable earnings statements in the forthcoming

annual reports.

Standard refined sugar shares generally

showed slight recessions on comparatively small turnovers.

Independent steels, motors, motor accessories, chemicals and other

shares showed up well at the start, but final

prices prevented a varied assortment of changes.

Call money opened and renewed at 4 1/2 per cent, advanced to 5, and then to 5 1/2, where it closed. Business in time money continues on a

5 per cent basis. Trading in commodity paper was moderately active.

The ruling rate for prime names being

4 1/2 per cent.

Exchanges Weak

Foreign exchanges opened firm in reflection of the higher London quotations, but later developed marked weakness. Demand sterling, which showed 14 1/2-15 yesterday, eased off

to 14 1/2-15 today, while French

franc slipped from 14 1/2 to 15.

Irregularly marked relatively quiet

dealings in bonds, gains slightly

numbering the losses in active issues

at the close. In the foreign debenture

market, Rio de Janeiro 5's of 1946, Dan-mark 5's, Zurich 5's, Seine 7's and Paris-Lyon-Mediterranean 5's all moved up to 1 1/2-1 3/4 points, some of the bying

being for Export account, while Mexican 5's, Solons 5's, Marcella 5's and Czechoslovakian 5's all lost about a point.

were in good demand in the industrial list, apparently in London News Letter

By Sir John Foster Fraser

Those who expect anything spectacular from the new Bonar Law government will be disappointed. The Prime Minister himself has the caution of his Scotch ancestry and makes no secret that his policy will be in the direction of retrenchment rather than reform. Notwithstanding the abuse of his political opponent
that he proposed a period of legislative yawning because he declared that what the country most desired
was tranquillity. I know that his principle endeavors will be to reduce the enormous taxation beneath the burden of which we are becoming round-shouldered. He has already abolished the most expensive secrafariat attached to the Cabinet and has combined several ministerial offices,
as well as wiping out some altogether.

for luncheon. As a constant visitor to ministerial offices I have noticed there is a considerable employment of bobby-hair and well-stocked damasels whose chief work, so far as I can make out, is to make tea for each other. The other day young Lord Harrington, who is the heir of the Duke of Devonshire, was telling how he paid visit, via the Pension Ministry, and in the first room met two young men who were playing quits with billycock hats and hat pins. In the next room there was a young man with feet hoisted on the table smoking cigarettes and reading
a sporting paper. When Lord Harrington at last penetrated the room of the chief official he found he had gone out to tea. Civil servants rather object to these stories, and I dare say they are somewhat exaggerated, but there is no doubt that one of the methods of economy introduced by the Government will be to reduce the number and make those who are retained work longer hours.

Silent Members
Quite a number of the newly-elected members of the House of Commons stirred the enthusiasm of their supporters by announcing that they would make their voices heard at Westminster. There was one candidate, Mr. James D. Hope, who met with much opposition to being re-elected because during the twenty years he had been a member of the House of Commons he had never been known to deliver a speech. This is by no means a record, for the late General Forrester sat in Parliament
for forty-six years and had never been known to address the House,
although there was a rumor that he had been heard to exclaim: "I wonder where that blank sheet comes from."
Sir Charles Burrell sat in the House of Commons for sixty years and kept silent. Toward the end of his career he did get up and say a few words in support of a measure prohibiting housemaids from cleaning
windows from the outside.

There are other members of the Commons who scarcely ever allow a day to go past without either delivering a speech or asking a question.
Questioning ministers is one of the fine democratic privileges handed upon by private members. Every afternoon the Prime Minister and all his subordinates line up on the front bench and are pelted with innumerable inquiries about public affairs,
from the Prime Minister, who has to answer what is the intention of the Government in regard to international relationships, to the Postmaster-General, who has to give an explanation why it is that some unknown
village gets only one postal service
a day when it is entitled to two. All ministers have to defend in person
the proceedings of their own department, and if anything goes wrong
when the motion for their salary
comes up somebody moves a reduction of it, and if it is carried, the minister is compelled to resign.

Old Members
The present father of the House of Commons, that is, the man who has longest been member, is Mr. T. P.
O'Connor, who has sat at Westminster for forty-two years. It is interesting that the man who has longest sat in Mr. Lloyd George's cabinet is Mr. Lloyd George himself, who has been a member for thirty-two years. It was only the other day at the Colchester oyster feast that Mr. Lloyd George reminded me that we had known each other all the time, although he added with a laugh that I had probably written more unkind things about him during that period than any other man
in England who wielded a pen.

Mr. O'Connor, or Tay-Pay, as he is known, called, as well as Mr.
Lloyd George, at the recent elections returned unopposed. Quite independent of politics, Tay-Pay is very popular, and because he is seventy-four years of age, though he told me about his schemes to start a fresh newspaper—people believe that he is not so old. He is putting him to the test of a contest
and therefore having to fight for his seat. Also on the occasion of the first time in his long political career, Mr. Lloyd George was returned unopposed.

Party Names
When I first had anything to do with British politics there were only two parties, Liberal and Conservative, although there was an increasing Nationalist party from Ireland. Slowly there came into existence the Labor party, now one of its most vigorous forces in our political life. When Mr. Gladstone took up Home Rule fresh names began to be devised. Many of his Liberal supporters, however, indicated the increase of the Liberal Unionist party.
There were still Liberals, but were supporters of continuing the union between England and Ireland. Because they were bitterly attacked for what was considered to be desertion from the party, they retaliated by calling the other Liberals Gladstonians, a name which I still hear Mr. Gladstone most vigorously disliked. Then there gradually emerged two names which were ago, Whig and Tory, the Whig being applied to the very moderate Liberal and the name of Tory being directed rather contemptuously against Conservatives who were alleged to be reactionary. There was objection to the South African war, politicians who criticised the Government were dubbed "Little Englanders," and by this name Mr. Lloyd George himself was for a number of years. Then there was the advanced Liberal, but not quite so advanced as the Labor man, or the Socialist, who was called Radical, and indicated a considerable number of energetic social reformers
gloried in the name Radical.

When Mr. Chamberlain proposed duties on imported articles our politicians were divided into Tariff Reformers and Free-Trade. When Mr. Lloyd George, some twelve years ago, set forth on his land taxation campaign, there was a sturdy band
of law-abiding people who fought him
and who prided in the name of "Disfranchisement." When the Great War came along, and for national purposes all parties combined, the Coalitionists came into existence. Now the coalition has broken and we have in the House of Commons half a dozen parties, the Conservatives, who have awakened to the Liberal Unionists,
keeping to the name of Conservative,
although not a few would prefer the title of belonging to the Imperial party. The Liberal party is the party, the National Liberal party, which follows Mr. Lloyd George, and the Independent Liberal party, which

The Right Breakfast - Less than One Cent

If you would finish the day right,
you must start it right by eating the proper breakfast.

And the finest morning meal is the most inexpensive. Everyone should start the day on oats, the greatest food that grows, and the most economical.

The oat is more nourishing than any other grain food—it makes bone and brawn. But the maximum of oat nutrition, flavour and value is not found in ordinary rolled oats sold in bulk—it comes only in the Quaker carton.

We buy the very cream of the oat crop, which in turn we sift for the best grains. These rich, plump, perfect oats are milled into very thin
flakes, and packed in sealed cartons.
The Quaker package protects the Oats, preserves their original flavour,
and prevents waste.

Perfect Oats—perfect milling—perfect packing—are the three simple reasons for Quaker's exclusive purity
and wholesomeness.

Yet Quaker Oats cost less than a cent
per dish.

Ask your grocer for the Quaker package.
You can't get Quaker quality any other way.

follows Mr. Asquith, although they are generally called "Wee-Frees," because their number is small and they prefer to be unattached. The Irish Nationalist party had completely disappeared except for Mr. T. P. O'Connor, who in the smoking room of "the finest club in Europe" has many stories to tell of the oratorical battles
in the early days.

"British Buddhism"
Though we know there are a few English people who follow the teachings of Buddha, it came as a surprise that there was an English Buddhist Society and that a number of its missionaries had set forth to India intending to proceed into Thibet and pay their respects to the Grand Llama at Lhasa. When, however, they reached the borders of Thibet the pilgrims were stopped and were informed that not only did the Grand Llama not wish to meet them,
but that they would not be permitted to travel through the country.
This seemed an unkind way of receiving devotees from another country. Yet, although there are no telegraph wires to Thibet, news evidently travels quickly, for the reason of the prohibition was that the Buddhist missionaries were really a number of enterprising cinema operators who were taking their machines to the Forbidden City with the expectation of securing pictures
to entertain us later on when thrown upon the screen in our movie picture houses. Their enterprise was great, but they will have little to boast about
in the matter of achievement.

Brighter London
About a couple of years ago there was established the Brighter London Society in order to dissipate the gloom which was supposed to be hanging over us as the aftermath of the war. Perhaps the society achieved its purpose, for certainly London has smartened itself up considerably, and in the evening, for those concerned, there are no
dined well and been to the theatre,
there are always the dancing clubs,
like the Embassy and Ciro's, and Midnight Ball, and supping until half-past two in the morning. So the Brighter London Society has ceased to be by being merged into what is called the London Association, one of the main purposes of which is to promote a better understanding between New Yorkers and Londoners.
One of the evidences of the brightening up of the city is the renewal of the game of ping-pong, which infected us so badly some years ago. It is now, I believe, called ping-pong, and a club has been opened in Banker street with thirty tables, where experts may play, for

I notice there has been an intimation that amateurs are not qualified for membership of the Great Britain
Table Tennis Association.

Women Travelers
As some of our principal men-travelers have returned home, several of our better known women explorers are setting forth. It is only the other day that we gave greeting to General Bruce and his young band
of climbers on their return from Lima after making a gallant but unsuccessful attempt to reach the summit of Mount Everest, 29,000 feet high, although they got to within less than 2,000 feet of the top. I was at a dinner party the other night to meet Captain Frank Wild and his companion, who had gone forth with Sir Ernest Shackleton in the Quest on their Antarctic exploration.
Poor Shackleton was left to his long quest away down under, but the Quest, with Wild in command, pushed nearer to the South Pole than any other vessel had ever done. In a way the dinner party was rather a disappointment, for neither from Wild nor any of his men could we extract one single anecdote of adventure. They had a lot of nice things to say about the "Boys,"
they called Shackleton, but not a word about themselves.

Now, Lady Dorothy Mills, who has felt the call of the desert, has gone
off to cross the Sahara on her way to Timbuctoo. Mrs. Roulta Forbes, who has penetrated unknown parts
of Africa more than any other woman, and who has had a bright few months in social London, has disappeared again, and we know that when she returns there will be an entertaining book. The night before she sailed I dined with Mrs. Charlotte Cameron, who is now on her way to Borneo to spend Christmas. I suppose, amongst the head-hunters in that wild part of that country.
Mrs. Cameron is always on the move.
She turned up in London last Spring
after having spent a couple of years knocking round the South Sea Islands. The last time I saw her was in New York, when she was on her way to the Klondike, and before that she had traveled extensively in Eastern Africa and in India. There is certainly nothing of a professional explorer about Mrs. Cameron, who looks just like a lady who likes to take her ease in a comfortable home;
but she soon gets tired of society
and pretty frocks, and then she must be away vagabonding. I think many Americans will remember her because in 1918 she spoke to a great number of women's clubs about things associated with the war.
